Matt Krunglevich is the person I spoke with at ODF, (541) 664-3328. He is in the Southwest Oregon District office in Central Point. He told me they do not require removal of riparian vegetation. They are required to request removal around structures in fire prone areas to make ample room for firefighting, if necessary. This is spelled out in Oregon SB 230.

The owner of the Brophy property will not be building in the riparian area since it is all in the floodway, so there is no necessity to remove the vegetation in that area for fire protection.
